

BodyHuggar™

Luxurious dimplefoam (eggfoam) support helping you get a good nights rest.

Deluxe eggfoam mattress overlay designed to give you therapeutic, pressure free comfort and to diffuse pressure points and prevent pressure ulcers by evenly distributing the pressure. Re-distributes weight away from high load areas such as shoulders, buttocks, hips and heels

Built in lumbar support hugs your back and spine.

Fits snugly under your bottom sheet

Body Huggar is a heavy grade, deep-pile dimplefoam (egg crate) mattress overlay. Unlike cheap eggfoam available from some stores it will not collapse under the body's high load areas such as shoulders, hips and heels. Body Huggar is considerably thicker 6 cm from underside to top of the peaks, thus ensuring pressure is evenly dispersed and no part of the body is left unsupported.

Built-in lumbar support: A unique feature of Body Huggar is the subtle built-in lumbar support column which helps maintain the spine's natural curvature during sleep by not allowing the spinal column to flatten. The lumbar support insert gently takes care of that 'unsupported' gap for back sleepers, and equally accommodates the waist cavity for side sleepers. Body Huggar's unique combination lumbar insert allow it to adjust to the contours of the body, providing 'fluid-like' support and comfort for the whole body. Excellent for 'good' backs (preventative care), and for assisting those with 'bad' backs by offering balanced support in those nagging areas. Body Huggar's surface promotes increased air circulation.

